Congratulations!

As the Ironman continues to grow in size and popularity, so does the job of successfully executing the event. From check in and registration to the bike pick-up the day after the race, the Ironman represents the culmination of months of careful planning and cooperation among the Directors, volunteers, city fathers, merchants, public works officials, media, and countless others.

But even so, the key to any successful event is the athletes themselves. There are many steps to follow, rules to adhere to, and deadlines to meet. Thanks to your positive attitude and general good nature, the 1991 Ironman was not only exciting and memorable, but delightful for all of us involved.

The greatest thrill is getting the opportunity to meet many of you personally, and then cheer you across the finish line as a new friend. We had lots to cheer about this year, as a record 1,312 competitors — 96% of the starters — completed this great race.

The staff of the World Triathlon Corporation admires the commitment, courage and fortitude displayed by each athlete, and wishes every one a safe and productive year ahead preparing for the 1992 Ironman. We look forward to seeing you there.

*It's the best marriage in sports.
The world's top endurance athletic event and the premier sports-beverage company.*

Thank you, Gatorade, for seeing the world's best athletes through an extremely long day, as well as your year-round support and dedication to our event and the Kona community.
